Prompt: A Busy Day

Imagine that you have just returned from a day at the beach. The weather was sunny and warm. You had a good day, but now you are tired and hungry from playing in the water and hot sand. You turn on a fan, put some left-over macaroni and cheese in the microwave, and hit the remote to switch on your CD player. While the food cooks, you check your e-mail to find out if your friend has sent you any messages.

How many different kinds of waves were present in the events described? List your answer and discuss your ideas with your group.
